

American Secondary School Scholarship Competition
Application Overview
Academic Year 2022/23

Important Notes

In addition to reading this Application Overview, please be certain to read the information sheet for your individual country. The document outlines deadlines telling you where to mail application materials and identifies features of the application that may be unique to your country. Both documents should be read first before you begin to complete application materials.

ASSIST invites scholars from around the world to submit applications to earn one-year scholarships in American independent secondary schools. Primarily, ASSIST selects students entering the 11th grade. There are also opportunities for students entering the 10th-grade and for 12th-grade or postgraduate students. Students study in the States for 10 months and then return to their home countries – scholarships are not renewable.

Candidates may not express a preference for a particular school, geographic region, or type of school (day or boarding). The final decision for acceptance lies with the school, and ASSIST works carefully to present candidates to schools where the fit is felt to be optimal.

The Application

Students are asked to provide thorough applications to the country committee evaluating their candidacy. Students with the most promising applications are invited to the interview stage. The elements of the application are:

Application Form. The web-based application form includes contact and biographical information, as well as a detailing of personal information. We also ask that the candidates submit four informal candid photographs of themselves with family and friends.

Short Answer Essay Questions. Candidates discuss what makes them unique, focusing on special talents, meaningful experiences, and personal philosophies. The committee is interested in family relationships, interests and activities, and a clarification of the desire to be part of the ASSIST program – what the candidates will bring to it, gain from it, and share after it. Your answers must be written independently by you in English.

Teacher Recommendations

Academic References Form. Please complete the online Academic References form by listing the names and e-mail addresses of your current English teacher, current mathematics teacher, and a school administrator or class teacher who knows you well. These individuals will receive e-mails asking them to complete recommendations on your behalf.

If your teachers prefer to complete downloadable PDFs, please contact your country coordinator for these forms. All completed forms should be emailed from your teachers directly to spencer@assistscholars.org.

Supporting Documents

 These documents must be sent directly to your Country Coordinator.

Academic Transcript. We require an official academic transcript that includes the courses and academic achievement for both the current and previous school years, including English translations. Please mail or e-mail transcripts and their translations to your country coordinator. All transcripts must include the school seal.

The Interview

For successful applicants, interviews take place from October through February in each country where ASSIST maintains a presence. ASSIST representatives and colleagues form interview committees in each country, and students have an opportunity to present themselves.

Candidates will be notified if the interviews will be held virtually or in-person, once we make a determination based upon CDC health guidelines and international travel advisories.

Language Proficiency

ASSIST Scholars must have a strong command of the English language – spoken, written and read. Most candidates will take the Duolingo English Test to help determine language proficiency. Language skills will also be assessed utilizing the application materials submitted and by careful attention during the interview.

Selection and Notification

ASSIST makes decisions in December, January, and February. All candidates are notified of the status of their application. Students not offered a full or partial scholarship might be placed on a waiting list.

School Placement

Once named ASSIST scholars, candidates are presented to member schools, which make the final decision regarding admission.

Financial Responsibilities of the Family

An ASSIST program fee, set by the ASSIST Board of Directors, is charged to the family of each successful candidate.

ASSIST seeks to keep its fees low and responsive to family needs. As a nonprofit educational organization, this fee covers ASSIST's administrative and operating costs, both in America and around the world; the cost of the orientation in America; and the cost of transportation to the host family or school. The fee is published annually prior to the commitment to join the program.

Families are also responsible for round-trip international airfare, which may also include travel to and from the student's school, health and accident insurance, visa application fees, a medical examination, spending money for personal expenses, and any activity fees and expenses (such as books and supplies) charged by the school.

Sponsorships

Students in some countries, who come from families of very modest financial means, may be eligible for a sponsorship underwritten by a generous donor. This sponsorship may cover some or all of the costs associated with participating in the ASSIST program.
